International Club Tea To Present Dean DuFour As Speaker

Entertainment To Be Another
Feature of Semi-Annual Tea for Freshmen and
New Members
Activities Room Will Be Set
for Social Function
This Afternoon

Beginning the activities of the semester the International Relations Club will present Dean Clarence DuFour, vice-president of the college, in a talk on the historical background of Germany at 12:15 today in Room 208. Sketching the most important events in the development of Germany, Dean DuFour will review the history of the Fatherland from the period of the Hapsburgs and Hollenzollerns down to the World War. "Developmental points along the centuries will be specially emphasized," states Dean DuFour. "Including the era of Bismarck and what he did to bring about the separation of Austria from Germany and the substitution of Prussia as part of the German empire."

The World War and the governmental changes following this period will be the concluding subjects of the talk.

The semi-annual tea for new members and their friends will be given this afternoon from 4 to 6 p. m. in Room 201. Elizabeth Kennedy, president of the International Relations Club, will give the welcoming speech. Mrs. Bertha Monroe, club sponsor and chairman of the Social Science department, will be the second speaker on the program.

Other features will include a one-act comedy, "The Doctors Said." The part of Miss Fitznoodle will be played by Helen Courages, while Betty Rand will take the part of the maid Euphemia. The six doctors' parts will be portrayed by Leona Biglovsky as Dr. Kalinka Smith, Ruth Smith as Dr. May-I Chackm Bonepat Smith, Jacqueline Martin as Dr. Willie B. Cutupake Smith, Ismay Tobin as Dr. Pansy Rose-Mary Smith, and Helen Johnson as Dr. Zenobia Spuffenstein Smith. Several musical numbers will be presented by Jean Martin, violinist.

Plans are being made for a Chinatown tour to be held October 19. Future speakers for the club include Melvina Johnson and Wesley Johnson, who will both speak at the meeting to be held October 19 in Room 118. Melvina Johnson will talk on the "Negro's Contribution to the Music of the World," while the latter will speak on "Negro Culture."

Mrs. Cummings Resigns Post

Mrs. Pearl Nielson, a graduate of State Teachers College in January, 1926, has taken the place of Mrs. Cummings as personnel director and as placement secretary.

Mrs. Nielson attended State when Dr. Burk was the president. She acted as his personal secretary while she attended college. It was during this time that Dr. Burk published his famous Arithmetic Bulletin. Later Mrs. Nielson worked in Miss Hussey's office as a financial assistant.

Soon after graduation Mrs. Nielson secured the teaching position where she taught until she was married. Between the time of her teaching and her returning to State Teacher's in 1930 Mrs. Nielson worked for Dr. Shade in Oakland. In 1930 she came back to relieve Mrs. Freeman, Dean DuFour's secretary. Later Mrs. Freeman resigned and Mrs. Nielson was appointed to the position.

Now Mrs. Nielson has a double job. She is the personnel director of San Francisco State and the placement secretary, through whom all applications for positions are placed.

Nyoda Appoints Committees at First Meeting

Plans for the installation dinner were discussed at the first meeting of the Nyoda Club. The date of the dinner is set for Friday, September 14. No particular place to hold the dinner has, as yet, been decided upon.

On the membership committee are Lillian Everson, chairman; Joan Sheehan, Helen Hoberg and Lora Peters. The arrangement committee is headed by Violet Simon, chairman; those helping her are Yvonne Cailloux and Laura Trayer. Ida Whitehouse is the chairman of the installation committee; helping her are Elizabeth Kramer, Frances Jensen and Nelma Johnson. The decoration committee consists of Anna Beric, chairman; Angelina Petrizzelli, Margaret Chubna and Helen Hoberg are helping her. Last but not least, comes the entertainment committee headed by Joan Sheehan, chairman; helping her are Flory Nissim, Lillian Everson, Nelma Johnson and Frances Jensen.

The officers for the term are Lillian Everson, president; Ida Whitehouse, vice-president; Irene Geiger, secretary; Anna Beric, treasurer; Nelma Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; Dorris Jacobus, art editor; Hazel Leary, news editor; Lora Peters, A. W. S. representative, and Frances Vest, song leader.

At present the club has $30 in its treasury.

Lillian Everson, president, expects a successful term. Some of the affairs she has planned are a "weenie" roast at Sigmund Stern, a Halloween party, a skating party, and a dinner dance, free to the members, and a hike.

The members must attend one out of every three meetings; if not, notice will be sent to the member or members stating that they are no longer members.

There are to be some assistant art editors who will be appointed by the head art editor, Doris Jacobus.

Any freshmen and new students interested in joining this club may see Lillian Everson or Dr. Edna Locke Barney, associate professor of Biological Science.

The Nyoda formal initiation dinner is being held September 14, at 7:30 p. m., at the Piccadilly Inn, 309 Sutter street.

Frosh Brawl Successful

"The Frosh Brawl and Bonfire Rally owes its outstanding success to the conscientious and loyal work of all who helped to put it over," stated Jerome Kenney, yell leader and chairman of the rally committee, "especially those on the committee and the entertainers."

The College Theater, College Band, Wesley Johnson, Coach Farmer and Allan Howard contributed toward the entertainment.

"The bonfire was unsurpassed," stated Kenney, "and the class of May '38 should feel proud of their efforts against the sophomore men in the Brawl."

The rally committee, headed by Kenney, was composed of Harry Marks, Gene Dumesnil, James Kilkeney, Clement Zannini, Gus Revel, George Eisenhut, Bob Links, Keith Cox, Jeanne Conlan, Virginia Conlan, Mattie, Marie Brista, Genevieve Murphy and Jean Thompson.

All those that wish to try out please read the play if you can find a copy. Otherwise just report. There is one copy on Miss Casebolt's desk, Room 218.

The play is to be given the week of October 22 to 27 at the Western Women's Club, and perhaps at the Humboldt State Teachers College.

Rehearsal nights for the play are from Monday to Friday and the time from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

Work by Capella Choir To Be More Diversified

According to Mr. Freeburg, director of the A Capella Choir, the work done by this musical group will be much more diversified and, musically, will be on a higher plane this semester.

Tryouts were held during the first week of school, and although much of the personnel is the same as last year, enough new voices were added to make a perfectly balanced group. There are now eight voices to each of the eight parts, permitting the use of many more compositions. Two they will prepare for performance are "Oh Lord, Increase My Faith" by Orlando Gibbons and "AlliLulia" by Palestrina.

Although the A Capella Choir is the newest musical group in the college it has been very successful.

New Registration System A Success

As proof of the success of the new system of registration used this semester, Mr. Carlos Mundt, chairman of the faculty committee of registration, reveals the fact that 865 students were registered the first day of school, and over 500 the second day.

The faculty committee wishes to take this opportunity of publicly thanking the student registration group, whose assistance contributed in a large degree to the tremendous success of registration.

ALPHA PHI GAMMA TO GIVE PROGRAM FOR NEW STUDENTS

Alpha Gamma Chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, journalism fraternity, is planning to give a novelty entertainment to which students who have been active in journalism while in high school will be invited.

Elsa Magnus was appointed by Gail Andrews, the president of the fraternity, to take charge of the committee planning the affair. Miss Magnus has set the date for the entertainment for Friday, September 28, in order to insure plenty of time to complete all arrangements and check-up on the publicity interests to find all students who are interested in journalism. She will be assisted by Jean Webb, Juanita Gregg, Harold Martin, Clarice Dechent and Stanley Sieber.

The occasion will give the new students of the college an opportunity to become acquainted with the sponsors of the publications, Dr. Lawrence Kinnaid, editorial sponsor, and Mr. Leo Nee, financial sponsor, who will be guests of honor. It will also enable the students to meet the Golden Gate staff, as well as the Franciscan editor, Dan Baker, and Cy Atkinson, business manager. The entertainment will be held in the Activities Room of College Hall.

At the meeting held Friday, September 7, a schedule for the meetings to be held this term was also drawn up. A motion picture will be shown at all evening meetings held on Fridays or Saturdays. The meetings are arranged as follows:

- Friday, September 21
To be held at the home of Dan Baker at 8 o'clock.
- Friday, October 5
Room 113, at 12:45.
- Saturday, October 20
At home of Dr. Lawrence Kinnaid.
- Friday, November 2
At home of Elsa Magnus with Mary Tuck as co-hostess.
- Friday, November 9
At home of Gail Andrews.
- Friday, November 16
Room 113, at 12:45.
- Friday, November 23
Home of Harry Marks.
- Friday, December 7
Open.

Fraternity Has Shop For Poor

Delta Phi Upsilon, State's chapter of the National Honorary Fraternity of Early Childhood Education, is doing a splendid piece of work with its Thrift Shop. This shop is located on Haight between Pierce and Steiner streets. The members of the fraternity are selected from students interested in early childhood education and having at least a "B" scholastic standing.

The various members take turns serving as clerks in the shop, which sells donated clothing to the poor at very reasonable prices, making it possible for people to buy clothes instead of depending on charity.

Any donations of clothing of any description is welcome by the group which cleans and repairs it and then places it on sale for a very nominal sum. Money obtained in this manner is placed in a sinking fund.

Marion Wooley, president of Delta Phi Upsilon will be glad to receive any contributions for the Thrift Shop from State's students, and urges them all to visit the shop and see the work being done by the fraternity.

Tryouts For Theater Play

Tryouts for the new College Theater play, "Hay Fever," will be held Wednesday, September 12, 5 to 6:30 p. m., and Thursday, September 13, 4 to 6 p. m., in Room 201.

All those that wish to try out please read the play if you can find a copy. Otherwise just report. There is one copy on Miss Casebolt's desk, Room 218.

The play is to be given the week of October 22 to 27 at the Western Women's Club, and perhaps at the Humboldt State Teachers College.

Rehearsal nights for the play are from Monday to Friday and the time from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

Sphinx Meets Today

A meeting of the Sphinx Club will be held today at 4 o'clock. This meeting will be the first of the semester, the opening of activities having been delayed because of the absence until last week of Dr. Elias T. Arnesen, professor of English and sponsor of the group.

Today's meeting will be in the form of a reorganization meeting and the Sphinx will be selected, to replace James W. Stinchcomb, who was forced to resign due to illness.

The first actual discussion meeting of the club will be held next week, at which time Dr. Arnesen will tell of his European trip.

Senior Class to Dine

The low senior class will hold its first meeting of the semester tonight at 5:30 o'clock in the Co-op. Dinner will be served and plans made for the remainder of the semester's activities, and all committee chairman for the major events of the term will be named.

President George Eisenhut requests that all low seniors attend, and that they report promptly.

State Man Tells His Adventures

By HELENE GLASS

Have you ever wanted to go places and see things? Tom Johnston, freshman State Teachers College, got the urge when he was thirteen, and for the past eight years his travels have taken him from the Inland Passage in Alaska to the tip of Cape Horn. He joined an expedition authorized by the Brazilian government to survey for a low level railroad into La Paz. He made an extensive side trip to climb a peak 21,000 feet high with a party of Indian merchants. The trip took three days, and they made the ascent with the aid of alpine ropes and crampons over the glaciers and rocky ridges. Then for a lark, on his return north he climbed Mt. Shasta in four hours and made his own trail, coming back by way of the Whitney glacier.

If travel is broadening Johnston is correct when he stated in an interview: "My trips through South America and Alaska have been full of contrasts. He started up the Amazon River in a comfortable river steamer and came out on the opposite coast of South America by canoe and mule pack at La Paz.

The young explorer found out for himself that travel is a real education, especially if you know what to look for. He admires Halliburton but believes Byrd approaches more nearly the ideal explorer because his travels have a scientific purpose. But one of the main reasons why he travels is because it is inherent. Both his father and uncle are civil engineers.

Made Trips With Guides

It is interesting to know that Johnston has made most of his trips solely with Indian guides. And that his mother, a former English teacher, not his father, was foremost in encouraging him to go off by himself. Contrary to expectations he is small in stature and has a friendly personality.

While a student at the University of Santiago he had plenty of opportunity to observe South American students. "The university is one of the oldest in the western hemisphere," he stated. "None of the colleges are co-educational. Girls attend private schools, and they are very pretty, but, he added politely, "girls up north are more energetic. Nature conspires to make the South American peoples adopt a 'mañana' philosophy."

He found that South American students go in strong for politics. Their secret political societies take a part in political issues. There is little social life in the schools. The University of Santiago is run by the church. But the students take part in national fiestas and sports for days. They go out for football and all sports. They are encouraged to keep fit and build up a resistance to the tropical fevers.

"What is the political situation down there," he was asked.

South America Shows Progress

"The frequent wars are more than 'toy' wars," he responded. "South America shows real progress in aviation, both commercial and military." The Japanese "invasion" centers in Chile, he observed. There is considerable resentment from the native Chileans since the "invaders" has gained strength. South America shows American progress in its railroads and building projects; but it clings to European culture and customs. There is no great middle class in South America. In the interior the upper classes dress in the old Spanish fashion, with lace mantillas, hammered silver ornamentation, sombreros, and bell trousers.

He has never been in Daguid's "Green Hell." However, he has seen strange sights on the Amazon, such as fabulous reasons for the drift of downstream in the flood season.

"The Jungle Indians are more interesting than the Plateau Indians because the former must fight the jungle for their existence. My Indian guides were friendly and intelligent enough but I couldn't trust them," he said. He always traveled light and took American foods, although he could rely on the natives for fresh produce along the Amazon.

Good to Be at State

The young explorer is glad to settle down for a change and enjoys the friendliness of the State campus. By nature reticent, he is an interesting talker when pressed. If he can keep to the grindstone long enough he hopes to get his degree and teach English. He has been invited to make another South American trip in the near future.

PARENT-FACULTY CLUB GREETED BY PRESIDENT

The Parent-Faculty Club at its September meeting was given a special word of greeting by Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, and then the members attended the Freshman reception later in the afternoon, where they met many of the new students personally.

Mrs. Edward Landrum, president of the club, explained at the first formal assembly of the term at the First Baptist Church that the club was "formed to promote the welfare of the Student Body, to further college activities, and to unite the members in social and intellectual intercourse." The club also contributes to a loan fund which has helped many students financially. For four years the club has been interested in legislative measures, education and educational institutions.

BLOCK "S" SOCIETY PLANS "EXCLUSIVE" DINNER DANCE SOON

"Gee, 'Daddy' Drysdale, you sure were handsome way back in 1934," a bevy of admiring female adolescents exclaimed, casting admiring glances at the dean of the Milpitas Girls' Reformatory. "Daddy" Drysdale, leaning back in his easy chair, sighs thoughtfully, as he gazes fondly at the group picture of the Block "S" Society—1934 edition.

According to the boys "who are in the know," the Block "S" men are planning to have a group picture taken in the near future, although some of the big shots who attended yesterday's meeting refuse to confirm this statement.

Plans for an "exclusive" dinner and dance for Block "S" men are being perfected. This will be the outstanding social event of the fall semester.

The regular semi-annual dinner will be held on the evening following the Block "S" initiation and presentation of that coveted award sometime at the end of the semester, according to Drysdale.

Once again the society thanks the student body for their generous support of the Tuesday noonday dances which are sponsored by the society. Most conspicuous, says Drysdale, "is the lack of wall flowers. Everybody dances; everybody has a wonderful time."

Gene Dumesnil should be commended for the excellent manner in which he handled the freshmen brawl in which the frosh did paint his face with a generous coat of green paint. Seriously, Gene did a good job and his efforts are appreciated by the student body.

Phi Lambda Chi Outlines Plans For Semester

On Thursday, September 13, at 11 o'clock Phi Lambda Chi will hold a meeting.

The committees for the Fall semester are, social chairman, Betty MacDonald; subchairman, Ruth Lindquist and Helen Paul; pledge captain, Orpha Adams; A. W. S. representative, Ruth Backerud; publicity chairman, Barbara Watson, and poster chairman, Mary Leonardini. These chairmen were appointed at the last meeting.

For her social calendar of the term, the president of Phi Lambda Chi, Dorothy Newton, has planned a rush tea to be held September 14, at the Club House from 4 to 6; "hell day" and pajamero to be held on October 5; formal pledge tea to be held on October 21; a bridge party to be held on November 9; an installation and formal initiation dinner on November 23.

The chairman of the rush tea is Ruth Lindquist. She is being assisted by Dorothy Jean White, chairman of invitations; Helen McConnell, chairman of refreshments; and Phyllis O'Neal, decoration chair.

The theme of the tea will be football.

Kappa Delta Pi Head Resigns

Helene Atkinson, president of State's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, has resigned her office due to her securing a teaching position near Sacramento.

Miss Atkinson was elected to the presidency of the international honor society last semester.

In order that the vacated office may be filled as soon as possible, a presidential election will be held at the first meeting. The date of that meeting has not yet been announced.

In order to become a member of Gamma Sigma chapter of which Dr. Mary A. Ward is counselor, a student must have a very high scholastic rating. Membership in the organization can be attained only if a student has his junior year held a "B" rating for two consecutive semesters, as well as having had an excellent record in practice teaching.

The chapter has a relatively large membership considering the rigidity of prerequisites. It is probably a secret hope of college students to be able to become a member of the Honor society.

Open Road Club to Invite New Members

Although the Open Road Club has not as yet held an official meeting, the executive committee is enthusiastically planning an interesting semester which is to be approved by the members.

The new officers for the Fall term are Helen Hoberg, president; Helen Sleeper, vice-president; and Edna Solari, secretary-treasurer. They will be installed at the next meeting.

Any student who is interested in the geographic aspect of the world today will find the Open Road Club very worthwhile to them.

Speakers from various countries give their views of different places and people, visits to ocean liners and other places enlarge the program, and illustrated discussions help round out knowledge of present world topics.

All interested students are cordially invited to join the Open Road Club. Just drop a note to any of the officers or see the sponsor, Mrs. Anna V. Dorris, associate professor of Social Science.

Rally Friday At Noon In Gymnasium Will Have Dr. Barney As Speaker

New Orchestra Being Formed By Students

Armand Lepore, retiring president of State's noted Music Federation, has announced that the College Theater Orchestra would be no longer in existence. In its stead a new one is being organized.

This Music Federation Orchestra, as it is being called, will meet regularly once a week for practice. In the past the orchestra scheduled to play for College Theater plays would have only one or two rehearsals immediately before the performance.

Among other objects derived by the students who play in the orchestra will be learning extensive reading, and opportunities for solo work. The orchestra will play for college plays, especially and also for other social functions that may be given by the student body.

The Music Federation orchestra hopes when it is well under way to ask for a charter from the Music Federation. The other musical activities functioning about the college have these charters. The charters allow certain privileges granted by the Federation, as well as causing the activity to be under certain rules of the same.

About sixteen people are to be included in the personnel of the orchestra, and anyone at all interested is urged to see Lepore. Lepore is to direct the group.

Nominations for officers of the Music Federation are still being handed in, causing a delay in the final election. As this set of officers has important duties and responsibilities, it is necessary that competent people are elected.

Aside from performing in their official capacities at the regular meetings of the entire Music Federation, this group of officers holds special meetings at which they discuss and decide the more important things concerned with the active Federation.

Radio Talk by Coach Dave Cox

San Francisco State is rapidly coming to the front as a football contender, is the opinion of Curley Grieve, sport commentator for the Examiner. The occasion for the assertion was the interviewing of Coach Dave Cox over KYA on September 11.

The broadcast of the San Mateo coach and of State's coach did much to bring San Francisco State to public attention. Coach Cox stated that State's breaking team, but to give an opportunity to all the men at the college that wanted to play. He also stated that with such universities as California, Stanford, Santa Clara, St. Mary's and University of San Francisco in the Bay area, a smaller institution such as San Francisco State can get the type of material that makes wonder teams.

When asked to pick out one outstanding man for this year, Coach Cox declared that it was still too early in the season to be looking for stars.

The broadcast marked a step forward in the football history of San Francisco State. It was the first time that such an opportunity was offered Coach Cox to discuss State's team.

Arrangements for this broadcast were made by Harold Martin, a prominent State journalist.

Representative of State An Historical Program

Dr. Frederick E. Graham, professor of history at San Jose State Teachers College and member of the executive committee of the Pacific Coast branch of the American Historical Society, has requested that San Francisco State Teachers College be represented at the meeting of the historical association to be held at Stanford University during the Christmas holidays.

The State representative on the program has not yet definitely been selected, but it will probably be either Dr. Leonard Ascher or Dr. Lawrence Kinnaid of State's history department.

Dr. Graham is co-author with Professor Palm of the University of California of the book "Europe Since Napoleon."

Nominations Posted

Nominations for the Music Federation have been turned in to Armand Lepore. Those nominated for the officers were James Snyder, for president; Carlton Hanson and Haig Kafafian for vice-president; James Chestnut, for treasurer; and Dorothy Crosby and James A. Robinson for secretary.

The nominations were restricted to music majors for the presidency and music minors or minors for the other offices. Voting will begin as soon as the ballots are ready.

Notice, Graduates

If the graduates that are in the ritual will drop into Miss Hussey's office, she will give you a copy, as she has some extra ones.

Jerry Kenney Plans 3rd Rally of Semester With View to Marin J. C. Game on Saturday

Coaches Dave Cox, Hal Harden, Dan Farmer Will Discuss Game

With Dr. Edna Locke Barney, medical director of the college, as guest speaker, State's next "pep rally" in anticipation of the Marin game will get under way Friday at 12:15 o'clock in the Women's Gymnasium.

Coach Dave Cox and the other members of his staff, Hal Harden and Dan Farmer, will speak to the assembled students on State's chances in the Marin game. In addition, this will be the first time Cox will have spoken at a rally since the season officially opened, and it is possible that he will have some very interesting comments to make on both the Marin and the San Mateo J. C. games, as well as telling of his hopes for the remainder of the season.

The band will play several selections, under the leadership of Mr. Donald Sandifur, and a few State collegians will add their bit to the festivities.

The ever active yell leader, Jerome Kenney, will be in uniform, as will his assistants, Gus Revel and Bob Links, and the song leaders, Mary Biggam and Virginia Conlan.

The game with Marin J. C. will be played at Ewing Field, with the kickoff scheduled for 2:30 p. m. on Saturday. State students will be admitted free upon presentation of the student body cards, and faculty members will be given free admission by showing their faculty passes.

Don't forget Rally: Friday—12:15—Women's Gym. Game: Saturday—2:30—Ewing Field.

Kappa Delta Tau To Close Membership

Final try-outs for membership in Kappa Delta Tau, State's dance sorority, will be held tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the gymnasium, with the practice in preparation for the event slated for tomorrow noon in the gym. Regular members of Kappa Delta Tau will assist dancers attending the practice in fundamentals of dancing.

As Kappa Delta Tau's new requirements comprise considerable technique, students desiring to join the organization are advised to attend the try-out practice, even though it is not actually required that they do so. After tomorrow evening membership in the society will be closed until January, 1935, when another try-out will be arranged.

Kappa Delta Tau's sale of various kinds of home-made candy last Friday was a tremendous success. A somewhat similar enterprise will probably be sponsored by the society in the near future, according to Marie Stanton, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the sale.

Special appointments made last week by Amaroy Callis, president of the organization, included assigning Evelyn Meharry and Helen Frank the responsibility of making unique posters to announce Kappa Delta Tau's numerous activities. Members are advised to glance at the bulletin board at least once a day for any special announcements.

REGISTRAR'S NOTES

Fourth Week
No registration is complete until fees are paid to Mr. Nee and a permanent program is filed in the box outside Room 110.
All December graduates, please see about making your personal report to Miss Vance at once.

September 13
All new students and all transfer students that have not had their picture taken please do so between 12 and 1 in Room A213. This is the last time scheduled for them.

September 22
Music tests for all new students in the Kindergarten, Primary, Elementary and Elementary Junior High Fives.
Pre-professional tests:
Geography, 9 to 10, Room 210.
History, 10 to 11, Room 210.
Language, 11 to 12, Room 210.
Arithmetic, 1 to 2 p. m., Room 210.
Pennmanship, 2 p. m. on; Room 213.
Signups for these tests will be posted outside Dean Butler's office one week before the tests are given. These tests are open to all students who took and failed the pre-professional tests before May, 1934. The arithmetic and pennmanship tests are open to all transfers and A.B. students that entered this semester in addition to the above-named group.

Twenty-five to Teach at Social Centers Soon

Enthusiastically greeted by the students of State, arrangements for experience in preliminary teaching in San Francisco playgrounds and social centers have been satisfactorily taken care of, according to Dr. Sherman Brown. "The main idea is to obtain as wide an experience as possible in handling children, getting their reactions, learning problems of control and at the same time enrich the experience of the student teachers' contact with life situations," Dr. Brown stated.

The number of applicants responding to Dr. Brown's notice was twenty-five. This number was too large for the present demands, the group chosen will work this entire semester. Although at this time no credits are attached to such work, the Department of Education is taking steps to provide for granting of college credits where work is carried through regularly and systematically to the term's end.

The largest group at any one center is at the Mission Club Center of the Y. W. C. A. where work is being done by the following: Lynette Goldstone, dramatics; Rita Beslauer, games; Berna Sougnon, sewing; Rose Haas, handicraft; Helen McDonald, sewing; Dorothy Hanson, kindergarten; and Irene Geiger, tap dancing.

Popularity Of Cigarettes Is Determined

After the brawl is over, after the dance is through, then comes the janitor detail to clean up after you!

On this clean-up were several first class statisticians who are working their way through college. This is the way they employ themselves.

After cleaning the gymnasium a survey was taken of the number of cigarette butts. And this is what they found:

Two hundred and thirty extra long butts (these probably belonged to football players who saw the coach coming).

Seven hundred sixty-five red-tipped ones, as contrasted to 645 non-tipped, which shows that girls smoke more cigarettes than men. It was also noted that on the average cigarette butts are longer than they used to be. That it shows that prosperity is just around the corner.

Little Theater Presents Plays

Experimental Theater's initial performance of the one-act play, "Where but in America," was presented last Thursday and was well received by an enthusiastic audience.

The play revolved around the theme, "It's easier to get a husband than a new maid." Consequently Albert Girard as the husband was in a predicament from beginning to end. The wife, Irma, played by Catherine Wilson, was a woman of means, who needed in keeping her husband squeaked, much to the delight of the audience. Margaret Gleason, as the Swedish maid, showed just why she was harder to get than a husband and in doing so provided many a laugh. It was directed by Lorraine Ballou.

The next play to be given is "Mid Oats," a rollicking comedy and having a very promising cast consisting of Bob Mason and Catherine Wilson.

Valie Brazel will direct and it will be presented Thursday, September 13. Director of Experimental Theater, Louis Ray, wishes to stress the fact that all students are welcome to try out for plays. There is no admission fee for any of the plays.

Ants Wend Way Through Gymnasium

Grinacing slightly and sighing profoundly, Mrs. Rees, custodian of the girls' gym locker rooms, sprayed her last bit of ant poison over the horde of tiny black ants that had invaded the locker rooms. The slight sprinkling of poison was depressingly ineffective; the ants still swarmed around the place, getting into girls' lunches, running up their legs while they were dressing for class, and emerging from the water fountain just as one was about to indulge in a cool drink.

Some more ant poison would have eliminated the pests quickly enough, but it didn't seem as though the state had allotted the school money for such a trifle as ant poison.

But never daunted, Mrs. Rees took the matter into her own hands, and those entering the locker rooms yesterday were greeted by a sign reading:

"Drop a penny in box below to buy ant poison."

By this morning, enough money for poison had been obtained, and the ants are rapidly being exterminated.

Appreciation Expressed

The appreciation of the rally committee and of Jerry Kenney, yell leader, is extended to all students who co-operated to make possible the transporting of so many of the rooters to the San Mateo game. Over 80 persons were given transportation by co-operative members of the student body, thus aiding in the large turnout for the San Mateo game.

LOST
Small brown wooden dog pin on the campus. Valued as a keepsake. Reward if returned to Frances Jones, Box 1452.

Resolutions Passed For Deputations

During the present week-end the chairman of the Faculty Publicity Committee plan to meet with the heads of the various departments in the college to plan programs which will be presented by students of the college.

Students' deputations to the bay region high schools was the most important resolution passed at the first meeting of this committee on August 29 under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth, assistant professor of English.

Miss Jessie Casebolt, assistant professor in English, and Mr. Kenneth M. King, assistant in English, have agreed to be in charge of the committee to arrange these programs. A student helper will also be appointed to assist with the numerous details involved. It is the intention of the committee to send out to the high school principals of this region a list of available programs that they may check those items in which they are most interested. This step represents the first definite organization of a student group.

Another recommendation by the committee was to the effect that, when space is available on the completion of the new buildings on our campus, the student publications group will be given larger quarters. It was suggested that they have three smaller offices for the editor of the Golden Gater, for the editor of the Franciscan, and for the director of publications and publicity director respectively, and, in addition, a larger room for the staff and the reporters of the paper.

Again this year by the associated students to handle the publicity projects of the college, particularly those that have to do with newspaper publicity. At Miss Andrews' request, the committee recommended a glass-covered bulletin board which will be provided for the publicity director on which she may display to the student body and to the faculty members the items of publicity which have been secured from time to time.

C. C. C. Courses Written Here By Graduates

San Francisco's State Teacher's College is harboring within its portals a Correspondence School headed by Mr. Philip D. B. Perram for young men in the C. C. C. Camps.

The difficulty confronting the writers is to correctly gauge how high or low a plane to base these courses on, for most of these young men have not gone beyond the eighth grade. No text books are necessary, and the courses are not compulsory, they are just written for the young men who have ambition enough to better themselves educationally.

One thousand courses are offered in Business English, Diesel Engines, Auto Mechanics, Journalism, How to Read, Blue Prints, Forestry, How to Study, and other individual request courses. Dan Baker, Elizabeth Pinney, Dorothy Skelly, and Eugene Harvey, State students, are writing these courses.

This movement was started by the State Board of Education, which will soon provide 160 camps with these courses. Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, President of State, is an active member of the State Board.

Book Shortage Worries Co-op

This term there is an unusual shortage of books from the publishers, in the Co-op, according to Mr. P. Marples.

Local houses and depositories have been out of stock for some time, on several titles, due possibly because of strike action from the east, and also to unprecedented enrollments at all colleges along the Pacific Coast. University of California has the largest enrollment in its history this semester.

In some instances, where the Co-op has wired east for books, already short on the Pacific Coast, the eastern publishers were also out, which would seem to indicate large enrollments back there.

The situation has caused apparently unwarranted delays, but the Co-op hopes to have everything straightened out by the end of the week.

Please check on the bulletin board in the Co-op for books that have been sold and the students who have not received money for the books sold.

Change in Staff

Owing to the pressure of other duties, Clarice Dechent has been forced to relinquish her post as news editor of the Golden Gater. Miss Dechent will, however, continue to serve publications as a member of the Board of Publications, and as an associate editor of the Gater.

Mrs. Juanita Gregg, former business manager of the 1933 and 1934 annuals, will succeed Miss Dechent as news editor. Mrs. Gregg has served publications as circulation manager of the Gater, exchange editor of the Gater, as well as editing the 1933 handbook.

Bell Coaching Football

Allan Bell, outstanding State track star, is now engaged in work at Continuation High School. Bell is serving as coach of the newly formed football team as well as directing other activities. The football team being organized for Continuation by Bell is the first that the school has had in four years.

New Board Member

Owing to the fact that James Snyder has failed to return to college this semester, Charles Britten has been appointed to his post on the Board of Publications.

Britten served as member of the staff of last term's Gater in the capacity of editorial assistant.

Delta Sigma to Discuss EPIC Plan Tonight

The EPIC plan of Upton Sinclair is the topic for discussion tonight at the third regular meeting of Delta Sigma. Freshmen and other new students are especially invited to attend. The meeting will be held in Room 109 of College Hall at 7:15 P. M.

Delta Sigma, the official debating club of the college, has an extensive program planned for this term, according to Mr. King, debate coach. Freshmen are very much needed because of the many French debates being scheduled.

Monday San Francisco State debated Santa Clara on the question of "States' Rights." Dick Davis was State's representative.

A new system of holding meetings was announced by Bob Van Houtte, re-elected president of Delta Sigma. Meetings will be held alternately on Wednesday noons and Wednesday nights.

Blanche Tovey has been appointed historian and Sonia Seig given the post of recording secretary. Dick Davis and Joe Seig manage the freshman debates. Allan Howard is parliamentarian and Art Hall is treasurer. Marie Hirsch fills the office of corresponding secretary.

Enrollment Tide Rising Constantly

The words of State Teachers College pep song are certainly materializing into a reality. The phrase is "The golden tide is rising," and according to the present statistics from the office of the registrar this "tide" is fast becoming a tidal wave. What is more, we have the statement from Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, "San Francisco State Teachers College has the largest enrollment of any college of its kind in the West." You can see from this statement of the president that State is an "up and coming college."

A very important change has occurred in the ratio of the sexes at the school. The population has risen from 500 to 1,500. The ratio of males to females is now 1 to 2.

There are 560 absolutely new students, including 121 transfers, 46 graduates and 393 freshmen. There are also 80 re-entrants. This amounts to 153 men students and 407 women. The total of the Fall term, 1934, is 1,500 students.

Reception Aids In Orientation

In a setting of greens and candles, the semi-annual Freshman reception was held last Wednesday in the gymnasium. The usual procedure was followed to have the freshmen meet all the Student Body officers and members of the faculty.

The celebrities were lined up along the wall in what was known as a receiving line, and members of the committee in charge started each freshman along the line. At the end of the line, hostesses composed of members of the Advisory Council Board and Freshman Reception committee took groups of freshmen and transfers to certain sections of the room. At these various sections, representatives of all departments were congregated in groups. Students interested in any one of these departments would stay there and become better acquainted with the faculty.

Throughout the tea a special orchestra from the Music Federation, directed by Armand Lepore, played delightful and suitable selections. Each of these was followed by hearty applause from the auditors.

Toward the end of the day tea and cakes were served. According to consensus of opinion, it was one of the best patronized and arranged Freshman receptions ever held.

Noon Dances Will Have New Orchestra

The Block "S" noonday dances under the chairmanship of Ralph Nathan, prominent ball player, have netted the sports society over twenty dollars so far this semester.

This is more than the income from the dances in the entire series of dances held last semester. Admission is only ten cents and the chance to dance for the whole noon hour each Tuesday in the gym is not being overlooked by anyone.

Beginning with the dance to be held next Tuesday, Bob Wall's Cavaliers will supply the music, which promise to be snappy and popular.

Helen Jordan to Wed

Helen Jordan, prominent State cornetist, is to be married some time this fall. Miss Jordan played the solo in the cornet concert given in the Music Festival sponsored by the Music Federation last semester.

Miss Jordan will marry Mr. Norman Perry of the Shell Oil Company, who, it is said, also has musical inclinations.

ALTERNATE MEETING HELD BY FRENCH AND SPANISH DIVISIONS

At the first meeting of the Romance Language Club, twenty-six students wishing to become members turned out. There were thirteen members from each the Spanish and French departments.

The regular meetings will be held on Thursdays between eleven and twelve, this being the time best suited to the members. The meetings will be held in Room 201 because of its stage and piano.

The French and Spanish departments will have alternate meetings. There are to be five officers in all, one president, two vice-presidents, one from the French and one from the Spanish department, and two secretaries-treasurers, one from each department.

The members must come to the meeting with the twenty-five cents for dues and be prepared to vote.

The activities planned for the term are practicing of French and Spanish songs and piano pieces, French and Spanish stories, correspondence with French and Spanish students, occasionally some prominent speakers, French and Spanish dinners, theaters, movies and operas, a visit to the Legion of Honor for French displays.

During the alternating meetings, and Mme. Marie Dony, associate professor of the Romance Languages, hopes that the competition keeps up throughout the term.

All the members who have made emblems are requested to bring them next Thursday.

Allegiance of Teachers and Students Asked

Any student who did not receive one of the following notices in his post box, is urged to communicate with the Registrar's office immediately.

"In accordance with action taken at the last presidents' meeting and reported in paragraph XVII of the minutes of that meeting, the State Board of Education at its last meeting approved the following pledge to be subscribed to by all of our state teachers college students and employees:

"Pledge of Allegiance Required of Students and Employees of California State Teachers Colleges:

"I pledge myself, without reservation, to obey, support and respect the Constitution and laws of the United States. I pledge myself to refrain from negatively or positively advocating the overthrow of the government of the United States and the laws of the United States to affect the modification or replacement of the form of government of the United States."

"Will you, therefore, kindly sign on the above line and file this document in the office of the Registrar on or before Friday, September 14, at 12 o'clock noon."

"Very cordially yours,"

"C. J. DU FOUR,"

"Vice-President."

Marples Assigns State Lockers

When students enter the State College, they receive a locker and are required to keep it the full length of time they are in college, according to Mrs. P. Marples.

The locker must be vacated and the padlock must be removed at the end of the spring semester, so that the lockers may be used for summer session students.

Students must not lock the lockers not assigned to them. If any student locks a locker that does not belong to him, the locker is taken away from him, and the padlock goes to some other student.

If any person is in doubt about his locker, please see Mrs. Marples in the Co-op.

The strictness is due to the fact that there are not enough lockers to supply the student body.

Coaches 'Wow 'Em' At Block 'S' Meet

The Music Federation overlooked a good bet when they didn't sign up Coaches Hal Harden and Dan Farmer to play piano duets for them. According to current reports they completely stole the show at last night's Block "S" meeting with their spontaneous contribution to the program. Maybe a little more music is what the football team needs... or is it a little less?

Associated Men Meet

The meeting of the Associated Men has been called for Friday, September 14, at 12:15 in A210 by the president, Dave Fox. Plans for the rest of the semester will be discussed. All men are cordially invited to attend.

Notice

There are a few vacancies on the Staff of the Golden Gater. Students who are interested are requested to communicate with Elsa Magnus at once.

A Correction

An error in last week's Golden Gater stated that Mary Leonardine was chairman of the decoration committee. She had to relinquish her post because of practice teaching.

Dorothy Deming took her place and made the decorations. Other members of the committee were Al Shepard, Francis Vest, Patricia Phillips, Nick Biedov and Ed Morgan.

Library Staff Working On New Catalogue

"The library staff is busy this term working toward the end of a complete and adequate catalogue which is constantly being built up," stated Miss Hermine Henze, librarian of Frederic Burk, to make material available to students studying sociological subjects.

The years have so changed teaching methods in the schools that today the average eighth grade student no longer asks direct questions referring to history and geography as individual and separate subjects, but now studies relations between nations, political parties, economic divisions in countries, and distribution of returns of production," she continued. Rarely does he ask questions to which perfectly obvious answers can be given such as the topography of certain places.

Headings upon the majority of books are new terminologies to children, and often prove non-understanding when they are looking, for example, for material on flatboats and can only find a book labeled Transcontinental, the general heading is not enough," was her closing statement.

The library is trying to substitute a satisfying story in recreational reading for the mystery story or sensational thriller which is demanded by the seven to fourteen year old children.

The library desires to lose a library user, but endeavors to satisfy the youngster who looks for books such as those sold on magazine stands or stories such as seen in the movies with an interesting book of literary quality without his being aware.

According to Miss Cecilia Anderson, supervisor of the teaching here, the library is being altered for a half hour each week to the second grades. At this time they are allowed to pick out books, discuss the pictures and stories, and then are taught how to draw them out of the library.

State Smiles Show Signs Of Sincerity

Smiles of State's leading men and women are as varied as the influx of popular songs and new fashions.

Helen Gleason's smile is delightfully infectious.

Dick Curtis'—friendly.

Berger Johnson's—broad, frank.

Lois Porter's—charmingly serene.

Jane Doran's—faintly sophisticated.

Virginia Conlan's—boyishly ingenuous.

Bill Connolly's—sad.

Norman Hohl's—provokingly gracious.

Beverly Lyon's—inviting.

With the collection of friendly and the dashing smiles, it is almost impossible to say which is the most appealing.

New Books on Econ. Now in Library

Among the new economic books which are to be found in the library, there are Ruis Dart's "Puppet Show on the Potomac," which shows how undeserved reputations are acquired in the great show in Washington.

Roger Ward Babson, in his "Washington and the Revolutionists," describes the revolution that is taking place in Washington and characterizes the men who are carrying out the policies of the Roosevelt administration.

Lillian Symes and Travers Clement have written on the social revolt in the United States in "Rebel America."

Besides these reviewed, there are also included among the new books "Economy of Abundance," by Stuart Chase, and "Era of Recovery," by William MacDonald.

Frederic Burk P. T. A.

Again becoming active after the summer vacation, the Frederic Burk Parents-Teacher Association held its monthly meeting last Thursday, September 6. Children from the primary grades contributed vocal selections. Following this a reception was held for the mothers at which "B" time students of Miss Cecilia Anderson's group acted as hostesses. Tables were appropriately decorated with colorful asters, tea and cookies were served, buffet style. Charge of refreshments was in the hands of "A" time students.

This method provides for the meeting and establishing of mutual interests between students, teachers, and mothers. Parents are in this way made to feel that they are welcome and their presence at the meetings desired.

It is planned to continue with this plan during the entire semester. Miss Lora Peters was chairman of the reception.

Bib 'n' Tucker Meet

Plans to hold the first fall semester's meeting of Bib 'n' Tucker, fashion club, tomorrow, September 13, at 12 o'clock in Room 211 have been formulated. At this meeting the organization which found its beginning last term and is sponsored by Miss Evelyn S. Mayer, instructor in art, will elect officers and discuss arrangements for a fashion show.

An invitation is extended by the club to all old members and new women freshmen students to attend, according to Kay Goodman, secretary.

Letter Tells Of Teaching In Foreign Land

A graduate of the old State Normal has recently written to a member of the administration here at State, telling of her teaching experiences in the Philippine Islands. Because of the vast amount of interesting detail included the letter is hereby presented to the student body.

"What fun to have your letter! Your little books are like gifts to me, full of pictures of things we need for our children. English is the language of the public schools (Mission Schools, too, of course), far from being the language of the home, though. And so our first duty is to teach a vocabulary and phonics even before the first primer. Your pictures will help such a lot for our tiny village store does not have anything like that at all, you may be sure. Many, many thanks, and mostly for your friendly interest."

"How came I here? I've always been of religious mind, and after getting my life diploma in the Mission of the Episcopal Church and was accepted for China. I lived for some years in the very geographical center for that vast interesting country."

In 1927 high anti-foreign feeling drove nearly all foreigners away from their stations and I was temporarily given work here. My, but they were good to us! And we appreciated it the more after the conditions and experience of China. I could not go back there for more than a year. Later on, after three more years' service there, I was permanently transferred here because the climate there was using me up. Here, in the mountains, it's pleasant and mild. The people wear very little clothing, but it is not the climate you think of when one mentions 'tropics.' I love my work more and more, and as I am fast becoming a middle-aged woman I am more and more thrilled and enthusiastic about the church of which I am a member and the Christian religion in general. There is help for every heartache and comfort and guidance in all the experiences and for all the necessary adjustment one must make in life. So you see how happy a thing it has been for me to have tripped so far east. But I have folks in California and will turn up there some years hence. I love California, too, and not all the thrills of travel can cool the warmth of feeling we have for our home land."

"It's slow here in the 'sticks,' no movies or libraries, or shopping except by mail, but I love every inch of these great and glorious mountains, every leaf of these marvelous rich flame trees, blooming beyond all imagination, every tree, fern, every luscious mango, every sturdy little brown naked body that goes skipping or leaping about our lawn at play—and you would love it all too."

"Sincerely,"

"Mary E. S. Dawson"

Miss Dawson was a member of the class of May, 1916, and if she continues her correspondence, the Golden Gater hopes to have the privilege of presenting more of it to you.

K. P. Tea Today

The Kindergarten Primary Club will have a tea in room KP 7, this afternoon from 4:00 o'clock. The Kindergarten Primary Club is composed of students who are majoring in the work of this department.

Today's tea will be managed by Norma Olsen, secretary of the club. A welcome tea such as this is held every semester so that new low freshmen students, as well as transfers, may become acquainted with one another and with their supervisors and faculty members in the department.

During the afternoon a program of entertainment will be presented and refreshments served.

On the program will be Miss Maas and Miss Alicut. They will give the of the club and outline a program for the rest of the semester. Marion Hopkins is giving two readings, and Lorna Olsen a piano solo.

Gater Gridders Oppose Fast Marin J. C. Team Saturday On Ewing Turf

Rival Coaches Stress Speed as Teams Prepare for Coming Encounter—Marin Undeatable in Three Previous Games

Coach "Scoop" Carlson's fast Marin Junior College eleven will oppose the State gridders Saturday at Ewing Field. The contest will start at 2:30.

Speed will be the keynote to both teams' attack. Coach Dave Cox is working his backfield men overtime this week in an attempt to get a combination that can handle the ball perfectly. The Gaters have plenty of potential power, but the backs do not seem to get started quickly enough.

Marin Back Fast

Coach Carlson boasts of two exceptionally fast backfield men who should cause the Staters a great deal of trouble. They are Herman Pete, flashy negro halfback, and Charles Meam, fullback. Both men are capable of running the 100-yard dash in 22 seconds in a football suit. Pete specializes on end run and is also a good passer, while Meam features on off-tackle plays.

The Jaycee gridders have played three games already and won all of them. Last week they scored a 12 to 0 victory over the Mare Island Apprentices. Their first touchdown was scored via the aerial route after a 60-yard march, and the second was the result of a blocked punt.

State Line Lighter

The State line will again face heavier opposition. The Marin forward wall averages 180 pounds. The ends and tackles are slightly heavier than the rest of the team, while the center of the line is lighter.

Both teams are strong in flank positions. Harry Franklin and Charles Flynn will carry the burden of stopping State's end runs. These men are demons on defense and both will have to be watched when Pete starts throwing passes. The State ends, Ray Kaufman and Ed Yee, should give the Marin combination a great battle. Both of these Gaters are good pass receivers and are fairly strong on defense.

Bill Lenhart, a former University of San Francisco player who weighs 220 pounds, will probably fill Peterson's post at right tackle. Although he is not as fast as Peterson, he has displayed a great deal of power on defense. Nolan's position at left half "Bogie" played against Marin last year, and he and Ed Saadallah caused the Mariners plenty of trouble with a short pass over the center of the line.

Coach Cox has not named a starting lineup for the game Saturday, but he will probably nominate the men who were outstanding in the game last week.

A tentative lineup for both teams follows:

Frosh Spirit Praised By Block Prexy

Freshmen Expected to Participate on Many Athletic Teams

The Block "S" Society and their sponsor, Coach Dave Cox, are hoping for a large turnout on the part of the Freshmen in the forthcoming athletic events to be held at State.

The chairman of the club and his numerous assistants were highly satisfied and just a little surprised at the unusual cooperation on the part of the lower classmen throughout the brawl. The dance which followed was marked with the usual success of all Block "S" affairs and it is to be hoped that their good work will continue.

The Freshmen who contributed so much to the tremendous success of this term's brawl and bonfire rally are well deserving of all the praise and tribute given them. Walter Drysdale, the president of the Block "S" Society, in commenting on the club's latest success, has this to say of them: "They are a fine group of fellows with an unusual amount of athletic talent in their midst. Many should gain the coveted Block 'S' and also help in raising the athletic standing of State."

All Freshmen who are interested in obtaining an athletic award will find all the rules governing eligibility in their Handbook.

STATERS' FOOTBALL SCHEDULE CHANGED

Due to unavoidable circumstances the Marin Junior College game which was scheduled for October 6 has been changed to next Saturday, September 15.

This later date was purposely left meeting Fresno State College on September 22. Coach Cox figured that the Gaters would need a rest after the San Mateo game before they encountered the strong Fresno aggregation.

The State team's schedule for the remainder of the season is as follows:

September 15—Marin J. C. at S. F. Fresno.

September 22—Fresno State at September 29—Open.

October 6—Open.

October 13—Santa Rosa J. C. at Santa Rosa.

October 20—Humboldt State at S. F.

October 27—Chico State at Chico.

Scott Leads Gaters Over Finish Line In Lake Merritt Race

U.S.F. Miler Takes First Place; Staters Drop Team Trophy

John Wall, classy U. S. F. miler and two miler, straggled around Lake Merritt in fifteen minutes and fifty-four seconds to cop first place and a gold watch in the Tribune Marathon. His time is a new record for the course, and establishes him as a high class runner in any company.

By virtue of having fifteen men finish the Annual Lake Merritt Marathon, State's cross country men really deserve the cup awarded for the out-of-town team with the greatest number of runners completing the grind.

State's nearest competitor for the honor was Lowell High School, which had fourteen entrants straggle home over the long run. They have been awarded the cup, and unless there is a reversal in the judges' decision, the whole thing came about because Bob Van Houtte and Wallace Gallagher flashed by the finish mark without being noticed or seen by the judges.

Scott Places Forty-Sixth

While none of the Gater entrants did better than forty-sixth place in this race, the 1934 edition of the cross-country team has possibilities of greatly improving itself. Wes Scott, Bill Dasman, and Warren Schrepper, the first three to finish for State, are runners with ability and should come right along in future races this season.

To Meet Golden Gate J. C.

Dick Davis, deciding to run for U. S. J. V. instead of State Teachers, romped in nineteenth position with a time of 18 minutes and 14 seconds. A good performance, but the Gaters could have used him. As it was, the club did not win a trophy, but State was a cinch to.

The Gater distance men meet Golden Gate J. C. in a night meet this coming Monday. It will be a shorter race, about two and a half miles, with the J. C. necessarily the favorite to win. W. Bertram, who placed fourth Saturday, and Tommy Loughran, who got ninth, are the chief hopes of the J. C.

States finishers were:

46	Wesley Scott	19:30
49	William Dasman	20:06.2
62	W. Schrepper	20:10
70	H. Glass	20:50
71	A. Hull	20:54
77	M. Chionio	21:30
82	C. Rich	21:40
81	R. Rudd	21:56
91	R. Mason	22:40
103	P. Kardassakis	22:46

Manager Mirande Gives Game Views

Last week State lost a football game to the strong San Mateo eleven, the final score being 6 to 0. The State players have no alibis to offer. They were very generous in their praise of the San Mateo team. They all agree that their defeat was brought about by the outstanding play of the San Mateo line. The strong junior college eleven that faced State last Saturday is generally recognized as being headed for a conference championship, therefore State has played one of its toughest opponents and should be assured of coming out on top in the majority of the remaining games.

During the game Ray Kaufman was outstanding for his defensive work and pass catching ability. "Harpo Furst" broke his own record when he fractured his nose for the twelfth time. Harkness, frosh flash, showed up well in punting and passing ability, and Nathan was right in there with his deadly tackling.

George Bogdanoff was in there fighting all the time. Yee in snagging a pass on the Jaycees' ten-yard line gave them plenty to worry about for the moment. Dick Curtis, State left guard, was the outstanding lineman of the day.

GATER GLANCES

By HAROLD MARTIN

Coach Dave Cox was right when he said, "San Mateo will have to fight all sixty minutes of the game to win." The State gridders put up a great battle from start to finish but were again the victims of "bad breaks."

Luck Favors Bulldogs

The play that led to the Bulldogs' touchdown, a blocked punt on the 25-yard line, cannot be classed as a break, but the event that spelled defeat for the Gaters certainly comes under the heading of bad luck. We are referring to the San Mateo punt which rolled out of bounds on State's 17-yard marker earlier in the third quarter. The ball landed three yards short of Bob Robinson, Gater safety man, and bounced at right angles until it was out of his reach and then continued down the field about 15 yards.

Had lady luck favored the Gaters, they would have scored in the first half. Ralph Nathan tossed a long pass to Ray Kaufman, who had to turn sideways to make the catch, and when he started to run he stumbled. There was only one San Mateo man within 15 yards on the play.

Kondratieff Star for Jaycees

State threatened to score shortly after the game started. San Mateo received the opening kickoff, and on the first play Walt Kondratieff, flashy halfback, fumbled on the Gaters' 40-yard stripe and Nathan recovered. An 18-yard pass, Nathan to Ed Yee, end, and a 10-yard run put State in position to score. They were held on the five-yard line.

Kondratieff was the outstanding player for San Mateo. He gained 102 yards during the game, which is exactly two-thirds of the team's total. He carried the ball twenty-one times for an average of nearly five yards per play.

State to Meet Marin

The Gaters gained only twenty-one yards from scrimmage during the entire game. None of the State backfield men could get started due to the strong opposing line. Bill Harkness, halfback, made the longest State gain, six yards, in the fourth quarter.

The State eleven will oppose Marin Junior College next Saturday at Ewing Field. This promises to be a close and exciting battle. Both teams defeated the Mare Island Apprentices by a twelve-point margin.

Carlson's Team Is Fast

Coach "Scoop" Carlson's team is light but exceptionally fast, according to a report from Kentfield. Herman Pete, a negro halfback, is the outstanding star. He is a good open field runner, an exception to the good passer, and is a demon on defense.

For the first time in several years Coach "Scoop" Carlson was confronted with a shortage of men when only 26 turned out for football practice. The Jaycees, however, did not show any evidence of this fact when they defeated the Apprentices last Friday night and displayed a good running and passing attack.

Marin has defeated State two years in succession, winning 6 to 0 in 1932 and 20 to 0 in 1933. If everything goes right at Ewing Field Saturday the Gaters should put a halt to the Marin's winning streak.

Bob Robinson... veteran quarterback from Cal Poly. He calls signals, clips, and plays safety with proficiency. It is interesting to note that he was first string quarter with the undefeated Cal Poly team last season. His time of 50.08 speaks for itself. Glad to have you here, Bob.

Walburto Valadez... two miler and cross country manager. Valadez has been active in athletics for several seasons. He ran the half mile for two years before discovering that he was a star two-miler. A broken arm sustained in a gym class late in the spring term is the reason for his absence on the gridiron this fall. Where football loses, the cross-country team gains, for Valadez is doing good work in turning out a strong squad of runners.

Mass Meeting Plans Nearly Completed By Women's Association

Swimming Party Slated for Next Saturday at Y. W. C. A.

W. A. A. mixed recreation has proven to be more than popular. The next event of this new activity will be a Swimming Party. It will be next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. Remember, both men and women are invited. There will be a sign-up in College Hall. Tickets will be twenty-five cents, and will be sold this week in College Hall. It will be necessary to bring your own bathing suit.

The skating party was a big success and W. A. A. plans to have another one soon.

Large Sports Turnout

The turnout for sports has been good. There were almost too many for volleyball, but next Wednesday there will be more courts available, so there are still more girls who wish to come out, don't be afraid to come.

Soccer started last Thursday at 11 o'clock on the lower field. There is still room for more girls if there are more that are interested.

Tumbling started Friday noon. If any girls wish to join the class, but have had no previous experience, do not be backward because the class is composed of beginners. There will be no meeting of this sport next Friday on account of the rally.

Intramurals were to start Thursday, but W. A. A. is giving the gym over to Kappa Delta Tau, so they will probably start next week. Those who had intended to come out for practice are invited to come to the W. A. A. volleyball ball meeting on Wednesday noon.

Social Dancing Wednesday

Social Dancing, a new mixed recreation activity, will start next Wednesday at 5 o'clock in the gym. The class will be under the direction of Lucille Smith, Box 99. The latest steps such as tangos, rumbas, fox trots, etc., will be taught. Men are especially invited, as the class is being given for them as well as women students. If only a few men attend it will be necessary to drop the class.

At the request of a number of students, W. A. A. will sponsor horse-riding. So the girls who are interested, watch for the sign-up in College Hall.

Mass Meeting Soon

A boating party will be held on September 22, so be on the lookout for the particulars in this column.

There will be two suggestion boxes put up: one in College Hall for the students and one in the gymnasium on the W. A. A. bulletin board. All suggestions and criticisms will be welcomed.

W. A. A. wishes to call attention to a correction in the publicity letter. "Noon-day braces" was written instead of "Noon-day bracers."

A mass meeting will be held soon, so be on the lookout for the date.

Tennis Tournament Planned by W. A. A.

Three new tennis courts are now under construction on the college campus, and plans call for their completion within six weeks. A tennis tournament will probably be played in the Tuesday afternoon 3 o'clock tennis class, as soon as the courts are finished, according to Miss Velda Cundiff, tennis instructor.

Both singles and doubles matches will be played in the tourney, and to make the doubles sets more fair, each intermediate player will be coupled with an advance tennis player.

Miss Sarah Scott, dancing instructor, has returned to the college after a year's absence, and has outlined many plans for her classes. Members of her clogging class are rapidly acquiring perfection in the various steps, and soon will be able to improve regular clog dances. The final examination is to consist of the presentation of an original dance, involving some characterization.

Gater Reserves To Play Mission High

State's football reserves will play the Mission High School's second string Saturday morning at Golden Gate Park. This is the first time in football history at State that the Gater team has had enough reserves to schedule such a game.

The game is scheduled with the purpose of giving the boys who are not quite good enough to play first string a chance to get a game against unknown rivals and demonstrate their ability.

Bulldogs Garner Lone Tally In Third Quarter As State Fails In Chances To Score

Gaters Drive to Jaycee Five-Yard Line But Lose Ball on Downs—Hillman Goes Over for Touchdown

By REINALDO PAGANO

Fighting doggedly every second of the way, the San Francisco State varsity dropped a 6 to 0 decision to the San Mateo Bulldogs last Saturday on the Burlingame High School field.

The Bulldogs' score came in the middle of the third period when Hillman, San Mateo fullback, plunged one yard over his own right guard to chalk up the six points. Johnson's attempted place kick for the extra point was blocked by Walt Drysdale, State tackle.

The first few minutes of the opening quarter found the Gaters narrowly missing one of the two opportunities they had for scoring. Ralph Simon, kicking off for State, booted one to Adamich, San Mateo right guard, who caught the ball on his own fifteen-yard line and was downed on the thirty. Walter Kondratieff, San Mateo halfback, taking the ball on the first play, advanced it to the forty-yard line where he fumbled.

Ralph Nathan pounced upon the oval to recover it for State. Nolan, attempting a reverse on State's first scrimmage play, was thrown for a five-yard loss. Nathan hit the line for no gain. On the third down Nathan's pass to Yee was intercepted by Cohelan, Bulldog quarter, who in turn fumbled the pigskin to have it recovered by Walt Nolan to again give the Gaters a first down on the Mateans' forty-yard line.

Gaters Miss Score

Attempting to run the ball from this point, Nolan made two yards around left end, and Simon was held for no gain at center. Nathan, unleashing a beautiful pass on the next play, completed it to Yee, State end, who caught the ball on the Bulldogs' twenty-yard line and ran to the ten before he was downed, thus giving the Purple and Gold a first down on the ten-yard stripe.

In two plays the Gaters lost ten yards but on the third they made it up when a pass, Nathan to Nolan, was complete for ten yards. On the next play San Mateo was penalized five yards for being offside, this giving the State team a fourth down on the five-yard line. Nathan, attempting an off-tackle play, was held for no gain and the first Gater scoring threat was stopped.

Kaufman off to Races

In the second quarter, the Mateans, determined to score, opened up a drive on their own thirty-three-yard line which carried them to State's one-yard line, where they were held on fourth down. During this drive the Jaycees gained sixty-seven yards and made six first downs.

The last play of the first half saw the Gaters missing their second chance to score. A long pass, Nathan to Kaufman, with Nathan throwing from his own twenty-yard line, was completed for thirty yards. Kaufman, apparently off to the races with nothing between him and the Bulldogs' goal but air, slipped to one knee as he turned to run after catching the pass, thus nullifying State's second scoring threat.

Simon's Punt Blocked

In the third quarter the Jaycees were put into position to score when Higgins blocked Simon's punt, the ball rolling out of bounds on State's twenty-five yard line. In four plays with Kondratieff doing most of the ball carrying, the Bulldogs advanced the oval to the one-yard line, from which point Hillman carried it over.

State Pass Offense Good

In contrast to the Mare Island game, the Gaters' pass offense was excellent, while through their running attack they gained practically nothing. San Mateo, on the other hand, showed a powerful and speedy running attack built around Walt Kondratieff, while their passing attack was very weak. With the whole State team giving a bang-up game even in defeat, it is difficult to pick out the individual stars.

The work of Ray Kaufman, Dick Curtis, Walt Drysdale, and Ed Saadallah in the line was particularly outstanding, while in the backfield Nathan, Harkness and Bogdanoff showed up well.

Sarcasm in Education

Education is the impartation or acquisition of knowledge, skill, and discipline of character. If it fails in any of these things, it is ineffectual. To prepare us for a complete living is the function which education has to discharge.

Sarcasm is a satirical remark uttered with scorn or contempt, it is a cutting jibe, a keen or bitter taunt.

Sarcasm has no place in education. The function of the teacher is to form and regulate the principles and character of the student, not to ridicule him in his quest for knowledge. Since education is to prepare us for complete living, good breeding must be included. Training in the amenities and courtesies of life is essential for he who wishes to live fully. Breeding is acquired through habitual intercourse with those who practice the courtesies of civilization. Sarcasm has never been popular with people of good breeding. It lacks any redeeming feature: it is not brilliant, being worthy of only mental midgets or a person with a lopsided view of life, and it does not get desirable results. It is entirely out of its environment when brought into the field of education, for the student looks to the teacher for leadership and guidance and she is the model from which he patterns himself.

If a teacher cannot impart knowledge without corrupting her personality and infuriating her students, she has embarked upon the wrong career. Discipline of character is as necessary for the instructor as the student, and sarcasm is often the outgrowth of an undisciplined temper. Keep it out of education!

What's the Use?

State has the reputation of offering a splendid education for the least expenditure. It is a haven for those who want to do advanced work but cannot attend the university due to prohibitive prices. The reputation of helping deserving students is not one to be regarded lightly. It is an ideal towards which State should strive.

To insist that a class buy supplies that will cost on the average of a dollar a week, and not permit two people to share the supplies is far from the popular idea of how to help a deserving student. To enforce the ruling by giving F's to the students unable to comply is our idea of an inconsiderate act. When such a thing occurs in a course required for a certain major or minor it is doubly serious. In addition to these supplies, an expensive book is required.

The mental effect upon the students is the most important consideration. To cause the feeling of "it's not worth it" is enforcing a handicap upon the student. The desire to learn is, after all, the prime requisite for a good scholar. That desire should be jealously guarded as a very precious thing, not destroyed through inconsiderate demands.

We offer no solution. We merely state the student viewpoint, which, is, briefly:
"We want to attend college. We work at nights and study afterwards in order that we can attend. We realize the necessity of buying supplies. But if we find it necessary to share supplies, isn't it our privilege? The inconvenience is ours. We cannot afford the course as it now stands—yet it is a requirement for our major."
"What's the use?"

Scholastic Recipes

If you want to fail in your life, to disappoint yourself and those who love you, to give your college nothing back for all it has given to you, you need not greatly trouble. Thousands of men in prisons and poorhouses can recommend you a recipe for failure. Here is such a recipe: A careless college life. Wasted evenings. Bad reading. An insatiable desire for amusements. Living from one semester to another without a definite idea of what you are going to do with your future. This recipe is guaranteed not to fail.

If you want to succeed in your life, to make your parents proud, to have your classmates proud in years to come that they were at college with you, to make a memorable reputation, you can make your success sure now. Thousands of successful men in high positions can give you a similar recipe for success as this: A well spent college youth. Healthy amusements. Evenings of study and recreation. Good reading and companions. A definite idea of what you mean to be, and a belief that you will be what you make yourself.

You cannot have all the books you want; you cannot stay in college, perhaps, as long as you should. But you can have knowledge, the most powerful thing in the world; and with knowledge nothing is impossible to a student who means to get on. "As you think, so you are," says the man of science. What you do in college is reflected in your future.

Why, then, you may ask, do so many fail if our success depends upon ourselves? Well, there are many kinds of failures. A few—very few—fail through circumstances beyond their control; some fail through lack of concentration, through being unable to fit themselves to circumstances, or to look forward; others fail through sluggishness, indifference, or bad character. But in nearly all cases failure may be traced to one thing—students shutting their eyes to opportunities.

You now have two recipes. Take your choice and follow it, but do not try to mix the two together. Remember whatever you are or ever hope to be you owe, not to your darling mother, but to yourself.

THE

Capitola

By JAMES W. STINCHCOMB

Capitola.—Once Again a Black Fleet has been sighted in Pacific waters off the coast of Washington. Once again San Francisco's 250th Coast Artillery, the first unit used in the recent longshoremen's strike, rides down upon the shores of blue Monterey Bay to do battle with the invaders, whose existence is strictly for tactical purposes.

That's the short but not the long of it. That is the military but not the human side of it. You may wink an eye at my differentiation, but I could get many an old soldier of Boxer Rebellion, Spanish-American, Philippine Insurrection, and War-to-End War campaigns to agree with me.

THEY would not let old Jim Whitney come down to this year's mock warfare. He was a soldier when McKinley was President. For over thirty years he has been wearing the uniform—and wearing it well. He was a grizzled old first-sergeant when I, a hobbler, was discovering that red oil for a tail-light is one of the things for which they send green young recruits.

But thirty years bring great changes to a man. Sergeant Whitney has known for a year or more that he is not as spry as he was. He had decided that in November, when his last enlistment period of three years is to be up, he would not apply for another three-year hitch—he would step aside for the young fellows. This encampment was to have been his last with the boys he loves.

UNFORTUNATELY his superior officers gave orders to the contrary. His blankets were already strapped into his haversack when he found out that he was to stay home; the long line of khaki-colored trucks would go along without him. When military service equipment is no longer useful, is too old, it is marked obsolete and put aside. Nothing must interfere with the gaining of the objective. Outworn men and material have no place in the scheme when a town is to be taken or a ship is to be hit near the water line.

There is another man who is not with us this year. It is just a few weeks since he was found dead, a suicide, in a San Francisco hotel. He was a young major and an auditor for the finance department of this section of the United States. He was well this side of forty and had so much generally in his favor that there seemed to be but one motive for taking his own life. He must have been involved in the juggling of accounts.

I HAVE just found out that his books were in perfect balance as a result of nothing but honest service. In fact, he was so conscientious as to worry too much about how extravagantly certain other men were spending money. He felt that he was going to be held responsible and would lose his post. The strain was too great. He had himself heavily insured, so that his beloved young wife would not be in want. Later he was, as the newspapers stated, dead by his own hand. The newspapers did not state what lay in the background.

Let me tell you about a man who is here. He is a very young fellow, one Giorgi Koleski, a native of Siberia. With his stories, his songs, and his guitar he gives us all of Russia. Last night the sky was clear and bright with so many stars that looking at them was confusing and wonderful. Two of us sat with Ursa Major to the north and listened to Giorgi's tales of his and his mother's escape from a country boiling with revolution.

There was good reason for their going. His father had been wealthy and died with his boots on, a lieutenant in Czar Nicholas' army. A part of the story and then another song. His music gave us thrilling pictures of these fierce horsemen, the Cossacks, who did nothing but fight, while their women did the work. There were pictures, too, of students who hated war and who were in danger of being cut down by the soldiers toward the end of university days. He gave us the songs in Russian. When he had finished, he told us the meaning in English. Then, alternatively very serious and very gay, he took us with him to a town close to the borders of Manchukuo.

THESE three, the sergeant, the major, the private, are part of the long but not the short of it.

"The eminent Louis Sobol speaks of the strangeness of one newspaperman praising another in print. That dates an era. Newspapermen have always been boosters of one another save for a more recent interlude when an uncalled-for viciousness crept into a noble calling. Editors sometimes slugged one another's policies on the editorial page, but, save for rare exceptions that ended in pistol for two, did not indulge in reputation-wrecking vituperation. We might kid, but never did we malign. And that is true of newspapermen desecrating the title today.—D. O. McIntyre.

BAKER'S OVEN

BY DAN BAKER

The (Hon.) New Students:

Glancing over the Publicity Cards filled out by the students this fall, we chanced across one filled out by a student coming to us from the islands. Under the heading of home town papers he had listed, "The (Hon.) Bulletin; the (Hon.) Advertiser; Hon., T. H." We humbly hope that the (Hon.) student finds plenty of interest here to cause him later to refer to us and our land as the Hon. California. So many times, in our Occidental style, we take away that unconscious charm of our neighbors, leaving little in return except our blunt and uninteresting mannerisms.

ARTIST AT SANTA CRUZ

While doing the board walk and Casino at Santa Cruz last Sunday night I fell into conversation with someone you probably know by name—William Lemos, who exhibits and sells his colorful oil paintings inside the Casino. Lemos, from a family of artists dating back to a great grandfather who was a Polish Court artist, and is indirectly related, according to him, to the Stanford de Lemos, has for the past forty-four years been selling his art work in Santa Cruz. He says that people buy mostly the scenes which they have seen and liked; he goes painting on location every year before the summer season; paints from memory as well as from nature itself; he says he never imagines a scene—just paints it as he saw it, although he will admit changing the colors in the scene sometimes just for contrast. He prefers California, calling it the ideal place for artists, although he goes East every year, usually during the early winter months. He reminds you of Mark Twain, looking not a little like pictures of the latter. You should see his forest fire scene done on a section sawed slantwise from a redwood tree. He sells these mostly to tourists, and, in keeping with the times, has cut the price on them to where no beach cottage can afford to be without at least a Lake Tahoe or an El Capitan, with Half Dome.

FRESHIE. With all due respect for modesty, which never got anybody anything in the struggle for existence, we desire to call attention to the accuracy of the pre-brawl prophecies of this department. We were absolutely right in every prediction we made except the one that the frosh would win.

Furthermore, this department is no fool and knows a lesson when he sees one. From now on we're going to be mighty nice to certain people, and we want to go on record here and now to the effect that we think freshmen are great guys.

GAGSTER. Mr. Al Boasberg lays claim to being the country's leading gagman. He has a yearly income of between fifty and seventy-five thousand dollars coming in from his wheezes. He sells to stage, vaudeville, movie, and radio comedians. You've probably heard dozens, maybe hundreds, or even thousands of his gags. His customers include Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, Jimmy Durante, Eddie Cantor, Ben Bernie, Jack Oakie, Phil Baker, Wheeler and Woolsey.

Boasberg carries a notebook everywhere he goes and jots down ideas. He may get only one or two a day, or he may get great guns and think up a couple of dozen. Al's most quoted gag of all is the one he sold a comedian in 1926: "You stole my wife, you horse thief." When anything big happens in the news, Mr. Boasberg receives wires from all parts of the country, asking for topical gags. He sold a lot on the eclipse, including one to George Jessel used at the Paramount: "The eclipse is just J. P. Morgan foreclosing on the sun."

We wonder if our columnist confrere, Dan Baker, is one of Boasberg's subscribers.

SCRAPS. By the time they're finished, the new buildings will be old buildings. They say the enrollment is now over 1500. If you see Beverly Lyon around—she wants to know if Al Capone is a one-celled animal. The rooting section did itself proud at the San Mateo game last Saturday. President Al Howard is getting a new gavel.

On Other Campi

By ROSE MARIE HAAS

The campus at St. Louis University is divided into two factions—the coeds versus the men. The cause of the great battle seems to be that the feds, delicately hinted that it might not be a bad item for the men to try shaving a little more often. Needless to say the masculine portion of the college were slightly burnt and a decided air of hostility is the result.

According to the Daily Cal, the pledges at Kappa Alpha Theta are being educated in how to properly conduct a telephone conversation. Anyone phoning the Theta House is welcomed by this saccharine (?) remark, "A cordial greeting, my worthy friend." The customary "Hello" is considered trite, vulgar, and therefore is absolutely taboo. Just in case you're interested, the telephone number is Berkeley 9532.

Talk about a tough break! University of Southern California's Irvine Warburton, well-known All-American grid star, couldn't land a part in a recent football film because "he didn't look like a football player."

The University of San Francisco has published a folder of college songs which contains not only the words to them, but also the musical accompaniments. Do you suppose that the object of including the music could be to have a little harmony at their rallies?
